Seminar on Some Aspects of Modern European History.

Date: 11/12/2023

On 27th December 2023 the department of History organised a students' seminar for the 5th semester Hons. students on Some Aspects of Modern European History. The students were divided into 6 groups comprising of three or four students. The students were given a topic on modern European history like: The Socio Economic causes of the French Revolution, Downfall of Napoleon Bonaparte, Italian unification Movement, German unification Movement, Causes of the First World War etc. The students presented their papers in groups followed by an interactive session between the presenters and the faculties.

The seminar is organised to groom the students in writing seminar paper and to deliver speech in public.

As the papers are part of their study, the students were benefitted immensely from the interactive session.
